Bio's of continuing and nominated Board Members

JD Fasolino

JD has been part of the CNBC since 2016. "I'm the planter and one of the pastors at EBCE, a Hispanic church that by the Grace of God He started in April 2016 (official launching date). At church, we have a residency program that trains leaders and future planters for the work of Ministry. I also have the privilege of serving at Send Network Español as the regional Leader for Canada, catalyzing and overseeing all aspects related to planting Hispanic Churches. Since churches are those that plant churches, our mission is to come alongside them, caring for them, helping them stay healthy and supporting their efforts of multiplying."

Steve Bray

Steve was born & raised in Newfoundland, married his childhood sweetheart Debbie and together they make their home in St. John's, Newfoundland. He has been in ministry for over 25 years, having served for 15 years of pastoral ministry in Prince Edward Island. He has been the lead Elder of Calvary Baptist Church since 2015.

Steve started TGC Atlantic Canada and is a founding member of the TGC Canada Council.

Steve is the Executive Director of Mile One Mission and is dedicated to planting churches and seeing Newfoundlanders raised up to reach Canada's most easterly province.

Brad Williams

Brad has served on pastoral staff in churches since 2011 in various roles before becoming a NAMB-endorsed church planter. He is now Co-Lead Pastor at CityLight Church in Winnipeg and serves as First Vice President on the CNBC National Leadership Board. Passionate about church multiplication, Brad serves CNBC Manitoba by helping the region pursue its mission to start and strengthen churches. A graduate of Canadian Baptist Theological Seminary (MDiv), he is grateful for the love and investment of the CNBC and committed to giving back through leadership and service.

Angener Baptiste

Angener has been serving as a church planter and lead pastor of Le Repos Church since 2021, in the heart of Laval, Quebec. He serves with the mission of leading people into a deep and authentic relationship with God—one that nurtures their faith and ignites their passion to share the Gospel throughout every season of life. He's also part of the CNBC Québec team, focusing on youth ministry. He's passionate about bridging generations and empowering young people to develop their potential for the advancement of God's Kingdom in Québec. His responsibilities include preaching, discipleship training, and pastoral care. He has been part of the CNBC family for four years now.

Laura Butt

Laura has been a part of the CNBC since almost the beginning. "I have been a pastor's wife in Moose Jaw since 1998. We have two grown daughters. Among other things, I have done children's ministry, outreach, evangelism, worship, conversational English as a ministry, women's ministry and youth. I've participated in our church mission trips to Texas and shared my faith at our booth during Moose Jaw's Sidewalk Days. I have a Bachelor of Education from the University of Alberta and a Master's of Divinity from our seminary in Cochrane. I teach English full-time to newcomers at the Moose Jaw Multicultural Council, which is a government funded program."

Jeremy Dager

Jeremy has been part of the CNBC family for three years. He serves as the lead pastor of Port City Church, which is a newer church plant in Halifax, NS.

Patrick Mukoro

Patrick has been part of the CNBC Family for over 20 years, he is a long-standing member of Richmond Hill Baptist Church. "I led the personnel team at RHBC for two years, overseeing staff welfare, salary reviews and performance monitoring with the senior pastor. For the past five years, I have served as a leader in the welcome ministry that includes greeters, hospitality and ushers. Responsibilities include scheduling, team training and motivation as well as ministry's annual budget."

Pepin Wong

Sum Ming Pepin WONG is a member of Surrey Chinese Baptist Church and has been part of the CNBC family for 15 years. "Currently, I am a Co-leader of the adult men's Sunday School class at the Surrey Chinese Baptist Church (SCBC), and have been a Board member of the Out Reach ministry; and the leader of the Care team of the church in the past. I have been involved with the Bible Study Fellowship (BSF) since 2008 and have taken up various positions such as Children Leader, Children Supervisor, English, Cantonese and Mandarin Group Leader; and the coordinator of the Satellite Discussion Group in the city of Surrey. Meanwhile, I am the Children Supervisor of the BSF In-person Family Class based at the Richmond Baptist Church in Richmond City, BC."
